ON TOP OF THE ACTION--Newry firefighters, working from the town's new ladder truck, chop their way through the hot steel roof of the Four Seasons Inn in Bethel. Firefighters from seven towns fought the Wednesday morning blaze, confining most of the damage to the interior of the century-old building's ell.

Firemen save inn

By WENDY HANSCOM

Three firemen from Bethel and two from Newry were sent to the hospital for heat exhaustion last Wednesday, as firefighters from seven area towns battled a fire at the Four Seasons Inn on Main Street in Bethel.

But despite the torrid conditions, the firefighters were able to save the hundred-year-old building.

State Fire Marshal Joseph Menezes of Bridgton said the fire was accidental.

"The fire started in the basement at the ceiling level or in the floor joists," Menezes said. "It was most probably caused by electrical failure, which many have been caused by an electrical storm approximately 12 hours prior to the fire."

"The fire marshal told us that five minutes later and the place might have been a torch"

JIM YOUNG
Bethel Fire Chief

The fire destroyed the inn's electrical system and gutted its kitchen, a second-floor bathroom and a third-story bedroom.

The inn is owned and operated by Sandy Mahon, who was away when the fire started. Mahon is staying with friends.

The blaze started in the basement, according to Bethel Fire Chief James Young and traveled up the floors of the building's ell between the main house and renovated barn. Most of the rest of the structure sustained smoke and water damage. The building contains a restaurant, several rental rooms and three apartments in the barn.

Four Seasons' neighbor Michael O'Donnell reported the fire at 9:24 Wednesday morning.

When firefighters arrived smoke was coming out of the building and flames were visible in the basement, Young said.

"The fire marshal told us that five minutes later the place might have been a torch because of the way it's built," Young said.

The wood-frame structure has spaces in the walls between additions and some rooms, Young said, which is typical of houses constructed at that time.

Several firefighters donned air packs and fought the smoky blaze inside the inn. Firefighters also used Newry's ladder truck to open a vent hole in the roof. A nearby hydrant supplied all the water needed.

Young credited quick control of the blaze to help from neighboring fire departments.

School days here again

For new Supt. Jenkins it's work away from home

By WENDY HANSCOM

Today is the first day of school, and, like his young Crescent Park School charges, Superintendent Ron Jenkins finds himself in temporary digs.

The district's new top educator, who began work in July, is currently living out of a camper at Stony Brook Campground, while he looks for a bachelor apartment in town.

Jenkins' family, wife Joneena and daughter Traci, have chosen to remain in Fayette, where Traci is completing her senior year at Maranacook Community School.

However, according to her dad, Tracie, a field hockey veteran was sorely tempted to join the highly-regarded Telstar hockey program.

Jenkins said although he would have preferred to have the whole family nearby, so far being separated hasn't caused too much hardship.

He usually makes the more than 50 mile trek home on the weekend and he says his family may spend some weekends here once he finds a suitable apartment. He also has two older daughters, Catherine and Jennifer.

Jumping in

But wherever he hangs his hat, the new superintendent doesn't expect to be spending a lot of time at home during his first year on the job.

The relocation of 300-plus Crescent Park School students to a Telstar High School parking lot has forced him to deal with a lot of nuts-and-bolts problems right off the bat.

Field hockey machine gears up for '93 season

By WENDY HANSCOM

Last season Telstar's field hockey coaches tossed a handful of seasoned veterans in with some young, mostly inexperienced players, and with lots of practice and sheer willpower the team muscled its way to the Western Maine State Class C semi-finals, where the Rebels lost by only a goal.

This season, co-coaches Gail Wight and Sally Hannon have an experienced front line, but their defensive backfield was sacked by graduation.

Goaltender Danielle Bernier, and halfbacks Suzann Richards and Noelle Gauthier were all commencement casualties.

On the front line everyone is back but Stacie Kangas. Varsity subs Maelynn Patten and Faye Luxton also graduated.

With the season opener a week away, Wight said the coaches are still evaluating player skills.

"We haven't cut a J.V. or a varsity yet," Wight said. "If someone can play really well for 10 minutes then we're going to send them in for 10 minutes to give somebody else a break. We haven't consistently seen then varsity play together yet."

Those likely to lead the Rebel attack this year are seniors Kelsey Cross and Angie Mills; juniors Lori Davis and Jaime Orrok and sophomores Katy Mullen and Mandy Sysko.

"The line is playing well together and they're moving the ball down the field," Wight said, "but they've got to score once they get inside the circle. They get it down, but we have trouble in the circle"

Green backfield

The Rebel's last line of defense is new this year, but most of the mid-fielders have some varsity experience.

Returning defenders include seniors Cheri Myers, Misty Hutchins, Sarah Coolidge, Sheila Douglass, Jen Bean and Melissa Howe, and juniors Shye Buck and Amy Patten.

Freshman Jessie Wight is taking up duty in the cage this year. She was a middle school goaltender for two years.

"The defense seems to be coming along steadily," Wight said. "They're talking to each other and

Flynn hearing set for next week

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A probable cause hearing has been set for Sept. 7 on federal probation violation charges against Bethel developer John P. Flynn Jr.

Flynn is being held without bail at the Hillsborough County, N.H. Jail. Most of the charges against him are based on allegations of fraud, forgery and theft in his business dealings in the Bethel area.

Flynn, who is being represented by attorney Robert Kirby of Concord, is scheduled to appear before Judge Shane Devine.

In August 1983 Judge Devine imposed the original sentences on Flynn for his role in what was then the largest white collar crime in New Hampshire history, the $6.4 million Stewart-Meyer scandal.

Flynn was released on probation in 1988.

Tuesday's hearing is scheduled for 2 p.m. in the U.S. District Court in Concord.

RAGIN' WHEELS--William Cannell of Camden, Maine streaks toward the finish of the cross-country event in this weekend's River Rags Mountain Bike Festival at Sunday River Ski Resort. Cannell, 42, competed in the master's pro/veteran category. More than 200 riders from across New England competed in the festival. Events included cross-country, dual slalom, hill climb and downhill. Sunday River offers daily mountain biking through Labor Day, and will operate its mountain bike park weekends through Columbus day.

Opinions

Pulling together

If anyone needed to be convinced of the value (indeed, necessity) of community cooperation, they needed to look no farther than Main St. in Bethel last Wednesday—where a lovely, century-old building was saved by volunteers from seven towns pulling skillfully together.

Successfully fighting a big fire takes practice, practice, practice. (And the following Sunday the Bethel, Newry, Greenwood, Andover, and Gilead fire departments were back together drilling again.)

But it also takes more than willing manpower, however skilled and drilled; it requires having the right tools to do the job. And that means a lot of specialized equipment, some of it quite costly.

Last week's fire drama was played out on Main Street in Bethel, but at center stage were a ladder truck from Newry and airpack refilling gear from Greenwood. Had the scene switched to a different locale and type of emergency, say a car accident in Greenwood, Bethel would have been right there with the Jaws of Life.

Rural towns like ours could never afford to equip their volunteers with the gear they need to take on all possible contingencies. But with each individual town making its own contribution to the collective enterprise, both in manpower and resources, all our towns become that much stronger, and that much better prepared to do battle against whatever form the next emergency might take.

And could it be that the same pooling of resources that works so well in fighting fires might also work for less spectacular challenges—like solid waste disposal, assessing, regional planning, code enforcement?

FAITH IN PEOPLE RESTORED

To the Editor:

In spite of all the bad news we hear and read about each day, for a moment, let me draw attention to the fact that good things still happen, especially in West Bethel, thanks to a fine lady by the name of Angela Stansen.

I am a retired gentleman from Connecticut who, fortunately, is healthy enough to enjoy biking. One day recently after taking a ride, I realized that I had carelessly dropped my wallet containing my driver's license, cash, house keys, family photos, and a number of personal documents which are always difficult to replace. I guess a person would have to experience the loss before truly understanding the magnitude of the inconvenience. I ended my trip and headed for home thinking I'd seen the last of my belongings.

On Saturday, a package arrived in the mail containing my wallet and a note from Ms. Stansen stating that she had discovered my things on her way home from work and hoped that I would find everything intact. Everything was there all right, but the most important thing that was returned to me was my faith in people. In my opinion, West Bethel can be truly proud to have a citizen like Ms. Angela Stansen.

Thank you, Ms. Stansen!

DANCE FINDS A HOME

To the Editor:

Children's Dance Theater of Bethel has finally found a temporary home! After searching the town—schools, churches, Bethel Inn, the Conference Center, Odion Hall, Legion Hall, etc., the Lions have agreed to rent the second floor of their building on Main Street for my dance classes on Wednesdays and Thursdays. I think it will be adequate as it has a waiting/dressing room and bathroom facilities.

Registration will be held Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 15 and 16. Wednesday classes will be pretty much the same time as they were last season, while Thursday classes will basically follow last season's Tuesday time, with the necessary changes to fit various schedules.

PETROLEUM SPILL CLEAN-UP—Ted Webber of Jacques, Whitford Environment Limited services a gasoline extraction unit that has collected more than 500 gallons of fuel spilled underground at Brown's Mobil station on Route 2 at the foot of Lovers Lane in Bethel. The spill was discovered during a routine inspection of monitoring wells, according to Stephen Brezinski of the Maine Department of Environmental Protection. DEP estimates the size of the spill at approximately 3,000 gallons, but owner George Gendron claims it was less than 1,000 gallons. They do, however, agree on the cause—leaking fittings in old pipes, which have since been repaired and replaced with new double-sided pipes. The spill is the second at the site, Brezinski said. An earlier 2,000-gallon spill, which probably took place in 1987, was discovered during the course of last summer's storm drain replacement work. The two spills are not expected to pose a threat to any wells, Brezinski said. The extraction trailer was scheduled to be removed this week, but there will be other recovery activities at the site. The cost of the total clean-up is expected to exceed $50,000, Brezinski said, with nearly all the cost being covered by the state's groundwater fund. Gendron Oil, which purchased the station in 1991, will pay a deductible toward the clean-up, but the amount of deductible has not yet been determined.

Fire

"Without mutual aid it would have been quite a mess," he said.

Two dozen firemen from Bethel, Newry, Greenwood, Woodstock, Gilead, Andover and Harrison withstood the heat of the day and the fire to extinguish the blaze.

Bethel firemen David Brown, Joe Westleigh and Scott Sumner and Newry firefighters Jim Bennett and Brian Bachelder were all transported to Stephens Memorial Hospital suffering from heat exhaustion, Young said.

The men were treated and then released Wednesday evening, he said.

Four or five more firemen were treated for heat exhaustion at the scene.

"The men lost a lot of fluids and their temperatures went up," Young said. "They tried to replenish it, but they just couldn't do it quick enough. It just got the best of them. It's one of the hazards of the job. The protective gear is supposed to hold the heat out, but it holds it in too."

Young said townspeople and others supplied water and other drinks for the firefighters.

Two ambulances from Bethel Emergency Ambulance and Rescue Service transported the firemen to the hospital. Med-care of Rumford also stood-by at the scene, while Tri-Town Rescue stationed an ambulance at the BEARS barn in case another Bethel rescue call came in.

Main Street was closed to through traffic most of the morning.

This is the third major fire on Main Street in two-and-a-half years.

Last December two buildings across the street from the Four Seasons were destroyed by fire. One building housed Kennett Realty and the other the Hometown Bakery and Children's Dance Theatre.

In Feb. 1991, an apartment building on lower Main Street owned by George Dunn of Bethel was leveled by fire.

the fullbacks and halfbacks are exchanging positions well."

This year the Rebels also have the luxury of some depth to call on.

Varsity newcomers and substitutes this year are juniors Mandy McInnis, Alise Bennett, Coral Smith and Angie Lovejoy and freshmen Beth Howe and Sarah Richardson.

"We're working for a lot of depth this year," coach Hannon said. "We want to substitute as much as possible even if means using some

This year's team has been invaded by freshmen. Last year five freshmen turned out, this season more than a dozen are out.

"It's going to be an exciting year with so many freshman," Wight said. "With so many gung-ho freshmen it's going to make the team even stronger. They're making the upperclassmen work harder."

Competition in the Mountain Valley Conference is traditionally tough and this year should be no exception.

"There's always a lot of teams in the MVC in the playoffs," Wight said. "You can't just disregard any of them. A lot of time in the playoffs it's two MVC teams playing against each other. We're taking it one game at a time. We're not looking too far ahead."

Telstar opens its season next Wednesday away at Lisbon. The first home game is Friday, Sept. 10.

Jenkins

"It's going to take a lot of cooperation to keep the high school, middle school and Crescent Park School teachers, and parents together," Jenkins said. "Every decision we make this year regarding Crescent Park is going to make somebody unhappy. We can't please everybody 100 percent."

School officials have spent much of the summer working out a way to get buses lined up to load on nearly 900 students at the end of the school day, and plotting out enough parking spaces for everyone.

Jenkins said he expects the opening days of school at the Telstar complex will be a bit chaotic, and some kinks will probably have to be worked out of the system.

"We're doing all we can to see that nothing interferes with the portables," Jenkins said. "We've tried to think of everything, but I can't imagine that we have."

Any change in the wind?

Sweeping change at SAD44 does not seem to be part of Jenkins' agenda.

"There are a number of things here in SAD44 that I don't think are broke," he said, "and I'm not going to try and fix them. I'm not going to make changes for the sake of making changes."

Asked about his long and short term goals, Jenkins declined to list any specifics.

He said he does intend to put together a package of his educational plans to present to the School Board this fall.

He did say he is interested in looking into changing how the high school schedules classroom time.

The school currently has seven 40 minute class periods a day, which includes one study hall.

Jenkins said he would like to explore holding four longer classes per day.

"You still technically have eight periods per day with some classes scheduled for two periods," he said, "and a class might meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday one week and Tuesday and Thursday the next. Courses like English, social studies and science lend themselves easily to a schedule like this. Other classes may not, and might meet for shorter periods of time. It means a change in how teachers deliver material too. There can't just be longer lectures. You've got to look at integrating some courses and striving for cooperative learning."

Telstar teachers could plan classes that complement each other, he said, such as a research project in history with writing help from the English department and charts and graphs done in math class.

Condoms and teachers' salaries

Like any other district, SAD44 also has its share of hot topics—condom distribution for one.

Jenkins was very forthcoming regarding his view on the issue of condom distribution at Telstar high and middle schools.

"I believe strongly in a need for schools to have a health education program and that health education needs to cover the issues of sexuality and AIDS," he said.

"My personal opinion is that schools do not need to distribute condoms to have an effective program. That does not mean I could not live with a program that does distribute condoms—with some guidelines."

"If you deliver the educational component and encourage parents to talk with their kids then the issue of distributing condoms doesn't exist. Obtaining condoms is easy. This isn't the 1950s.

"If the school district was operating a health clinic, then I might change my opinion. But we are not. We are going to offer health education."

"I'm very pleased we're filling the health curriculum position, so that we will have in place a K through 12-grade program that addresses all the various types of health issues. Sex education is only a minor part of a solid health program."

SAD44 has advertised for a health curriculum coordinator and plans to hire someone by October.

Teachers' and administrators' salaries are also another perennial, often hotly-debated topic.

"I do not believe our teachers are overpaid," Jenkins said. "I also do not believe our administrators are."

"I do not see this area as economically deprived. Teachers have an investment in kids' futures. I see a high level of dedication in the teachers here."

"There hasn't been one day in the last month that at least two or more teachers haven't been working in the CPS portables."

"There are other jobs they could choose and do well at that pay more."

Working with the school board

Dealing with a new school board and getting used to its idiosyncrasies would seem a formidable task.

Jenkins said he got no parting words of advice from former SAD44 superintendent Dewaine Craig on working with the 17-member board.

"It's premature to make any broad comments on the board," Jenkins said. "I have noticed they are a board that likes to work problems

To help her celebrate were her children: Barbara Grandin of Florida, Elizabeth Hackett from New Hampshire, Jay Herr from Connecticut and her son Jay C. Herr of Sunday River. A friend of the family, Lois Kilroy owner of the Home Town Bakery in Bethel, made the birthday cake. Many other friends and neighbors dropped in to extend their best wishes.

Yes, I've been on the road again. When my brother and wife stopped in on their way home from Vermont a week ago Monday, I followed them home to Unity. I had the chance to visit several relatives and friends, spending one afternoon with Mrs. Marguerite Scott. I also attended Maine Farm Days at the Harland and Jeff Bragg farm in Sidney. My niece drove me back as far as Farmington where I met Dottie and followed her to Rumford where I had my blood test. Arrived home to a lack of water. The heavy thunder shower Tuesday night hit the transformer here and burned out several appliances and damaged the water system. A well-drilling company found the problem Friday morning. North Newry

By GIL SEELEY

Correction: The Newry Community Church Ladies Circle meeting will be Sept. 7 instead of Sept. 8 as was printed last week. Meet at Louise Tetley's at 12:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. James Worthley of Strong were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowell, Sr.

Monday visitors of Frank and Bea Lowell were: Bea's 89-year-old aunt, Mrs. Annie Garey from So. Paris and her two daughters, Mrs. Harley Stevens of So. Paris and Mrs. Stanley Tyler of Nashua, N.H.

The "Newry Bowling Gang" at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford were:

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Bea Lowell, Doris Parent, Irene Hatfield and Olive Anderson. Jim Anderson and Rena Powers were guests. Of the "Lefties" Betsy was high on the triples and singles with one string of 119, Irene was high on the triples on the "Righties," but Bea was high on the singles with one string of 107. Karlene had four spares, Betsy had four spares and one strike, Gil had two spares and one strike, Irene had three spares and one strike, Louise had two spares, Bea had two spares and one strike, and Doris had three spares and one strike.

The Newry Bowling gals want to thank Gil Seeley for treating them to a buffet lunch at the Balsams. We sure appreciated her kindness and we are happy to have such a great friend.

Norman and Louise Tetley visited their daughter Sandra in Gardner, Mass., their granddaughter and great-grandchildren in Fitchburg, Mass., and Donald and Cora Tetley in West Warwick, R.I., this past week.

Well, I found out how old Ras Bachelder is... We celebrated his birthday on Wednesday at his home. There were Lia, Keith and little Luke besides Ras and Karlene. We had a turkey feast and homemade ice cream and cake at supper time. I, of course, was there to enjoy it as well.

While I am writing about birthdays—it is also Sue Cross' birthday on the 2nd, so happy day to you, Sue.

"Believing dear, what you deserve to hear,

Your birthday as my own to me is dear,

Best and distinguished days which we should prize,

The first, the kindest bounty of the skies,

But yours gives most, for mine did only lend me to the world,

Yours to me gave me a friend."

"Food for the body, Friendship for the soul."

Rotary Club notes:

Guests at the August 24 meeting included Ron Jenkins, superintendent of schools for SAD44; visiting Rotarian from Illinois, David James and his sister-in-law Judy from South Paris; summer perennial Gil Robinson from Wilmington, Del.; and son-of-Rotarian Colin Penley.

President Nancy Harrison opened the small meeting with the usual ceremony. Breakfast saw the normal hum of lively conversation, lots of people gave Happy Dollars, but few fines were extracted for infractions (which must tell us something). It was learned that Jim Monahan has been appointed chairman of Golf Tournaments (or King of Green, as some wag put it)—an appointment for which he has long been working. Nancy reminded everyone that there will be a trip on the Songo River Queen on Sept. 10.

We then divided into work groups and the meeting broke up in paroxysms of debate on two subjects—the four avenues of service (international, community, club, vocational) and attendance (for which Jeff Parsons took a severe beating, and as punishment had to write this).

ABUSED WOMEN'S ADVOCACY PROJECT MOVED

A steady increase in the number of persons seeking the services of the Abused Women's Advocacy Project (AWAP) has caused them to move their Oxford County outreach office in Rumford from Lowell St. to larger quarters at 89 Congress St., above the Congress Street Mall. During the past 10 weeks 62 women have received 121 hours of direct service which includes sheltering six women and eight children, helping 19 women obtain protection from abuse orders and working with six women on pro se divorces.

Heidi Randall, outreach advocate, attributes this increase to having the office open full-time for the first time since AWAP started an outreach office in Rumford in 1991. Randall began working in June.

She is available for the morning court sessions at Rumford on Tuesdays and Fridays and South Paris on Mondays and Thursdays. When she is not in court, she is available by phone or in person to work with victims of domestic abuse. She has been making community contacts and has enlisted several volunteers to help cover the office when she is out. There also is an agency 24-hour hot line number: 1-800-559-AWAP.

Randall's previous experience with organizing around women's issues has helped her in setting up support groups for women and children in Rumford and South Paris. The South Paris group is slated to begin Sept. 7 and the Rumford group on Sept. 15. Both groups will run from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Women may call the Rumford office, 369-0750, for information about place, transportation and child care.

Volunteer training is scheduled for Sept. 14, 16, 21, and 23 at the Rumford office from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Anyone interested in volunteering in the office, as a court advocate, as a group facilitator or as a transporter should call the Rumford office, 369-0750, to schedule an interview.

ROTARY INDIA EXCHANGE

Rotarians of Rotary International District 7780 are seeking four outstanding young business and professional people to visit India during February and March of 1994. The team will depart for West Central India on Feb. 1 and return to the U.S. on March 7, 1994. The program is funded in total by the Rotary Foundation of Rotary International.

The Program strives to improve international understanding by enabling young people from different countries to learn from each other. Team members should be young professional and business people, male and female, in good health and willing to travel outside the U.S. for the five weeks of the exchange. While abroad, team members observe their hosts' way of life and study the nation's economic, social and cultural characteristics through travel and discussions with their new friends in the host country, India. Team members have the opportunity to meet their business and professional counterparts in the host nation, where thousands of lasting friendships have developed over the years.

The Rotary Foundation is supported voluntarily by more than one million Rotarians from 175 countries where over 25,000 Rotary Clubs are located. The foundation's objective is to further international understanding and goodwill among people of many nations through projects of an educational or charitable nature.

Applications are due no later than Sept. 10 at the club level and will be forwarded to the district the following week, where they will be reviewed. Applicants will then be interviewed at Saco on Oct. 1 and 2 and selection will be made at that time.

Interested individuals should contact Wendy Penley at 824-2771, days, and at 824-3198 evenings and weekends.

QUILT AND CRAFT SHOW A GREAT SUCCESS

Fine summer weather brought a steady flow of people to the Quilt and Craft Show to benefit Bethel's oldest church, the Middle Intervale Meeting House on Aug. 21. Inside, the pews held a colorful array of 50 quilts which provided a good study of the changes that have occurred with fabric, color, and design between 1861 and the present. This collection of quilted pieces varying in size from wall hangings to ample bed covers was gathered and arranged by members of the Cross Country Quilters' Club. Security was provided by Alden and Mabel Kennett.

Outside in the church yard, people gathered around the booths of the nine craft vendors invited to show their handiwork.

The term "quality" was used over and over when the fine variety of handicrafts were described: the wood ware, the handpainted original photographs, the jewelry, the bird carvings, the paintings, the woolen knits, and the children's clothes. An air of social festivity prevailed throughout the day as neighbors, friends, and visitors from away picnicked on lunches purchased from the Methodist Women's Group and talked in groups with the vendors.

At the end of the show, Sharon Graves of Woodstock, N.Y., held the winning raffle ticket for the Wood Witch, a unique wood carving done by Mike Murphy. The Meeting House Society members who worked to produce this benefit show went home feeling happy with the success of the day.

News from the The Bethel Library

School is underway again. Bethel's children spent a long summer at camps, beaches, ponds... and at the Bethel Library.

For the last 10 weeks the library has been full of children taking books out for the Summer Reading Program and getting involved in special children's activities. These activities would not have been possible without the volunteer help of many people.

Thanks to Gail Wight, Celina Jodrey, Martha Brown, Thelma Remington, Marilyn Swan and Sis Post for their help with the Peter Rabbit Birthday Party; to Beth Hitchcock for two Special Story Hours; to Heather Vail and Mary Isham for "Goat Day"; to Carol Fiske for "Creative Dramatics"; to Cyndy Kane Olson for two craft projects; to Levi Brown, Dan Hanon, Julie Hart and Charlie Raymond for running the "Summer Library Olympics"; to Nancy Hansen, Christine MacDermott and Gail Sysko for directing the "Summer Theatre"; and to chaperones Bernice Caddigan, Elizabeth O'Meara, JoAnn Crockett, Doreen Benson, Sue Gavett, Becky Cummings, Claire Carver, Jolana Rotford and Julie Hart for their help on the field trip to the Children's Museum in Portland. A special thanks to Telstar student Cailin Kavanagh for his exciting artwork which inspired many young readers.

KEEP US IN MIND
It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuition, area athletes expenses, disabled individuals needs, etc. If you're cleaning the garage, attic, or cellar, let us get rid of those unneeded items for you. Call Roger Conant, 824-2131 or 824-2269, for pickup. Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words comfort and hope for your daily life.

With integrity we human beings teach our young people to say thanks. Yes, to say thank you for a gift, for an act of kindness, and for food. We feel this is an important part of their upbringing. We, many of us I suppose, were brought up in a like manner by a caring adult. And, somehow, saying thanks does make a difference.

A pastor is frequently called upon to give thanks, to offer a blessing, to say a grace before a meal. Often when I do this in public I wonder where these people present are coming from in their lives. That is, what has the day held for them. Perhaps, not everything has gone well--it has not been an easy day. Yet, hopefully some joy has appeared along the way--the sight of an encouraging smile, the sound of a songbird, the taste of fresh produce from someone's garden, the inspiring words of a poem, or then, too, it could well be that the day has been a remarkably good one; visiting with a friend, learning a new skill, receiving good news.

So, as a pastor, I stand before and with gathered people offering thanks, thanks that they have come, have gathered together, thanks that there is fellowship to share along with good food, and, thanks to/for God.

In the Bible, in Psalms written many, many years ago, there are many examples of thanks being given. Thanks offered to God. Thanks for the love, strength, and comfort that God so graciously gives. Thanks for the wonders of God's Creation. So be it that today, tomorrow, and in all our tomorrows we can offer our own words and songs of thanks to God.

It is good to give thanks
To the Lord,
To sing praises to thy name,
O Most High

USDA - Forest Service
Evans Notch Ranger District
White Mountain National Forest
Batchelders Grant, Oxford County,
Maine

The White Mountain National Forest, Evans Notch Ranger District is proposing to harvest timber in Compartments 12 and 14 which are located on the east side of Route 113 north of Evans Notch. The Rainbow Timber sale involves harvesting about 2.2 million board feet on approximately 656 acres in Batchelders Grant, Maine. Of this 653 acres would be managed using uneven-aged methods with 615 acres having improvement cuts and 38 acres harvested using Group selection. A three acre wildlife opening would be created. Four new roads totaling approximately 0.7 mile would be constructed from Route 113 to access the area. The project temporarily relocated the ITS 80 to the west of Route 113, starting at Evans Brook to just north of the Haystack Notch Trail. We are accepting comments on this proposal until September 24, 1993. To obtain more information please contact Wayne Miller at the Evans Notch Ranger District, RR #2, Box 2270, Bethel, Maine 04217 or call (207)824-2134.

OPERATIONS MANAGER

24-30 hours per week (flexible) / $6-$8 per hour depending on skills

Our organization is the nationally recognized leader in medical education for remote environments. Our clients include the National Park Service, Outward Bound, the FBI, the DEA, and many universities. Classes are run year-round, all over the country by our team of 40 instructors.

We are looking for a multi-talented individual to augment our 3-person office staff. The challenge of this job is that it requires hard work every day, all day long, with little downtime and little to no supervision. The advantage of working with us is that we are a fast-paced organization with great opportunities for learning, no dress code, and few rules (though we frequently have conflicts over whether to play CDs from the MET or the Rolling Stones).

Specific responsibilities include: responding to needs of clients and instructors, maintaining course files, shipping materials and paperwork to course sites, and answering phones. In addition to these secretarial tasks, the job may be tailored to the specific skills of the individual such as marketing, public relations, accounting, or sales.

Qualifications must include:

- 1) Excellent communications skills, both oral and written,
- 2) Computer skills (Macintosh experience a plus),
- 3) A passion and aptitude for learning,
- 4) An ability to handle complex, difficult tasks,
- 5) A willingness to handle low-level, mundane tasks.

Send a hand-written cover letter of 2-5 pages with a standard resume to: Wilderness Medical Associates, RFD 2 Box 890, Bryant Pond, ME 04219. NO PHONE CALLS PLEASE.
